Welcome to this special occasion, the graduation ceremony for the Bachelor of Nursing Māori. It is indeed a pleasure to come together today with whānau, friends, staff, and colleagues to celebrate the achievements and success of these graduands. Together we have supported their journey as nursing students and while celebrating their graduation today, we also acknowledge this to be the beginning of their next journey as registered nurses. It is with pride that we congratulate our graduands today and wish them the very best as they make their contribution to Māori health, and the health of all New Zealanders.

Kāti ra, tēnā koutou, tēnā koutou, tēnā tatou katoa.
